Protecting and Preserving Your Content

Many organizations need to release documents and multimedia artifacts containing confidential or other sensitive information. In such cases, this information may be obscured through a process referred to as redaction.

RSuite Redaction provides the capability for users to move away from manual redaction and allows electronic data and metadata to be redacted automatically. Users create pre-defined rules and/or templates that govern the redaction of the electronic data and metadata. With this capability organizations see enormous improvements to their productivity and a decrease in redaction time by up to 95%.

Save time, money, and avoid errors by selecting RSuite Redaction and Orbis Technologies!

RSuite
REDACTION

- Integrates with Orbis content management software and solutions.

- Automatically redacts multi-media and final work products based on corporate and organizational defined guidance.

- Captures disclosure guidance as templates that are applied to multi-media and final work products to ensure compliance before distribution to third parties.

- Configures organizational business processes to orchestrate the production generation process so that compliant redacted multi-media and final products are generated automatically.

- Utilizes an Administrator application component that allows organizations to sustain the application without vendor support to change workflows, processes and user interfaces.

- Integrates with third party multi-media viewers that users can inspect the source and redacted artifacts.

- Assign and configure user roles and responsibilities.

- Integrates with client security architectures to provide single sign on capabilities.

Key Technical Components:

- Uses a highly configurable Web based User Interface to capture disclosure guidance.

- Industry Standard APIs are used to integrate with third party software components.

- Utilizes an Industry standard workflow orchestration engine.

- A Rule engine applies redaction templates to content.
